Fire, which spread with extraordinary rapidity, completely destroyed the plant of Highway Sawmills Ltd., near Millstream Road, Thursday evening. The mill, valued at $200,000, was 80 per cent insured and may be rebuilt. Firemen from volunteer departments of four districts, Langford, View Royal, Colwood and the Navy, fought desperately and were able to prevent the flames as the fire dies for lack of fuel, the mill entirely consumed. Volunteers in centre photograph, direct hose stream on still smouldering debris. And, at right, small boys survey the desolation by morning's light. Hundreds of spectators crowded around the scene. Fire was not controlled until 10.30, when badly scorched and endangered for more than three hours, homes close by were considered safe. Pirie Singh, joint owner of the business with his son, left the scene in a state of collapse, assisted by friends, when he perceived nothing could be saved. (Times Photos by Bill Halkett.)

Some remarks in this space about pony tail hair-dos have prompted a constituent to send along a cartoon, clipped from True Magazine.

Cartoon shows a young lady, fully equipped with a weirdly-dangling coiffure, being escorted down the street by a young man.

Standing at the curb is a horse, also equipped with a pony-tail.

The young man says: "Notice how it serves a PURPOSE on the horse?"

Which remind me, Telegraph Editor Phil Lee is getting allergic to flying saucer stories.

He says if one more appears in TRUE, he's going to suggest it change its name to MAYBE.

Bill Elkins of Edward Lipsett Co. served in H.M.C.S. Prince Robert during the Second World War, and the other day he got to reminiscing a bit.

Seems that in the early days, refueling arrangements were not always perfect, to say the least.

On one occasion Robert filled up her tanks at Honolulu, and whence the time came to sail, the bill for the oil was presented to the British consul, as is usual in such cases.

But the consul said he'd not been informed of any arrangements and was so sorry, old chap, but it just couldn't be done, and all that.

Well, Robert had a rendezvous with another ship to pick up some prisoners. She just had to sail, and that was all there was to it.

The paymaster finally solved the dilemma. He had been a C.P.R. hand in the Orient trade, so he toddled round to see some of his old buddies, and the C.P. agreed to foot the bill.

On another occasion, in Peru, there was no kindly C.P.R. to bail the ship out of "hock" to the oil companies. So the paymaster had to dig into the ship's cash, not only for fuel, but for provisions.

Result—everybody went on short pay until home base was reached.

As Bill explains it, the crew had one choice only—no pay or no eat.

The height of mechanical frustration has been reached by a friend of mine.

On the telephone yesterday, he dialed "0" for operator, and got the wrong number.

The service club, or indignation best, exposes the reporter to a great monotony in meals, and variety in speakers.

I mention this fact so you won't get the impression I'm referring to anyone special when I tell you about the flowery, metaphor-tossing orator we ran into the other day.

After the luncheon was over a reporter was heard to mutter darkly:

"To sum up, we stand on the brink of a flaming dilemma and if we do not pull up our socks and put our shoulders behind the wheel the worm will turn."

Junkman Haig Claims 'This Is Persecution'

Magistrate Threatens Contempt Action As Accused Demands Immediate Sentence

A charge that he was the subject of deliberate "persecution" was made by Harry Haig, junkman, who was found guilty in city police court today on two charges of operating junkyards on two lots without first obtaining a license from the City Council.

REPORTS DIFFER

Haig Angry When Council Blocks Sale

Conflicting reports came before a City Council Thursday concerning junkman Harry Haig's application for property on the Songhees Industrial Reserve as a site for storing salvages.

Mr. Haig, highly perturbed at having his application turned down by council earlier in the month, appeared personally before aldermen to hear the reason why.

In the course of his submission, he said he had the site picked out for him from the 90 lots available by Fire Chief Frank Briers and Building Inspector John Oosterink.

He said they were both in favor of his having the lot.

"There are two businesses over there similar to the business I wish to put there," said Mr. Haig. "I want an investigation by this council to see why I am denied a lot in that area."

Mr. Haig's statement that he had been given the blessing of the fire chief and building inspector was contrary to information contained in a report from the Town Planning Commission.

The town planners, on whose recommendation council rejected Mr. Haig's application, reported they had been opposed to the junkman's proposal when they had considered objections raised by the fire chief and building inspector.

With these conflicting reports before it, council decided to ask both the fire chief and the building inspector to submit reports on the issue to determine once and for all which side they are on.

Two persons were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning following a violent two-car collision at Richmond Road and Fort Street.

Hospitalized were Doreen Matson, 2470 Lansdowne, who suffered a head injury, and Mrs. H. Cliff, 323 King George Terrace, who sustained head and chest injuries and severe shock.

City police traffic officers said Mrs. Cliff was a passenger in a car driven by Arthur Inglis, 539 Linden, which was in collision with a car driven by Osmond Matson, 2470 Lansdowne.

Police said that damage was heavy to both cars.

Settlement Still Eludes Strikers

Striking painters and contractors failed at a meeting Thursday to find grounds for settlement of the 68-day work stoppage of painters here.

Painters are seeking $1.87 and $1.97 per hour for brush and spray painters respectively, which was recommended in a conciliation board majority. Contractors have offered $1.73 and $1.83.

Business agent Don Bushell of the painters' union, Local 1163, said a few contractors have signed up on the union's terms.

About 200 city painters and paperhangers are affected by the strike.

They noted that "the people of the province had ably demonstrated against" the old system.

Included in the delegation were Dan Radford, president; Mr. Home; I.W.A. representatives Rae Eddie, Tony Gargrave, Joseph Miyazawa and S. M. Hodgson; Ranjit Singh, Victoria Labor Council, and Ewart Orr, United Steelworkers.

The officials told the cabinet the federation is disturbed at the suggestion of removal of the compulsory feature of the hospital insurance plan.

"In our opinion, the effectiveness of the hospital insurance scheme would be wrecked," they said.

The delegation strenuously protested the appointment of William Sanders of Kelowna as deputy minister of labor.

"Mr. Sanders was an elected executive officer of our federation, and on the payroll of one of our affiliated organizations, at the time the Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union, T.L.C., was formed, and of which he was the director of organization," the brief stated. "Since that he has continually waged war on our unions in the Okanagan Valley, and through his publication continually vilified outstanding national as well as provincial officers of our congress."

The federation "questioned if the proper co-operative spirit can be engendered between the C.C.L. organizations and the present deputy minister of labor."

The union deplored the fact no changes have been made in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, and termed it the most restrictive piece of legislation in Canada and possibly the continent.

The federation also wants the government to abolish the alternative voting system.

The federation asked the cabinet to disband the present Public Utilities Commission and remove commission member D. K. Penfold.

The delegation suggested establishment of a commission "to take over the B.C. Electric and the B.C. Telephone Company in order that they be operated on rates comparable with those of other cities in Canada."

George Home, secretary-treasurer, said after the meeting it was a co-operative meeting and the cabinet showed much greater interest than that of the previous government.

He said a special I.W.A. delegation will return to Victoria in the near future to discuss forest management with Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers.

POLIO TOTAL CLIMBS AGAIN

Four new polio cases in the last 24 hours raised British Columbia's year's total to 185, equivalent to the total at the end of August in 1947, the province's worst polio year.

Death rate remained at 17, five more than the total for all of 1947.

Objects When Police Drop Parking Case

Hartnell Quarrels With Magistrate

Peter Hartnell, Victoria contractor, in city police court today strongly objected to city prosecutor Alan Bigelow withdrawing a charge laid against him on the grounds that there was "something funny about it all."

The charge was of overtime parking. Mr. Bigelow asked the court to withdraw the charge against Hartnell in view of the absence of the police constable who had made out the charge.

Hartnell said he was not satisfied with the action of the court. "This is not the first time this has happened to me," he said. "I have had my time wasted by this court. I would like to go on with the case."

When the magistrate said he was going to withdraw the case in spite of the objections, Hartnell told the court that he had "enough of that."

"I'm going to take this matter to the attorney-general," he said. Magistrate Thomas asked Hartnell to apologize for this statement.

"I certainly will not apologize," retorted Hartnell. "Will you kindly tell me why I have not the right to take this matter to the attorney-general? I am a citizen of this country."

The magistrate said he had no right to make such a statement in court. He added that if Hartnell wanted to take the matter to attorney-general, he was free to do so but he had no business making his intentions known in court.

The matter ended there.

City Council has authorized drawing of a local improvement by-law to provide for construction of a five-foot wide concrete sidewalk on the west side of San Jose Avenue, and also to renew paving on that street, from Niagara to Dallas Road.

Two very charming little girls brought their mother to Victoria for a brief visit today.

Stephanie, 9, and Shelley, 6, arrived by T.C.A. plane from Vancouver, where their mother is currently employed as co-star of the stage comedy "Bell, Book, and Candle."

While their mother signed "Joan Bennett" for a group of autograph-seekers, Shelley and Stephanie stood quietly by, politely concealing their impatience to go sight-seeing.

Shelley was particularly anxious to see a little of the island. "I told you and I told you," she said to her mother. "It will take us a long, long time to drive into Victoria. The pilot said so, so I know it's true."

The two girls are obviously the apples of their mother's eye, and any parent would be proud to own them. They have dark, flashing eyes, shy smiles, and dark, shining hair.

"I should have combed your hair before we left the plane," Miss Bennett told Stephanie as they posed for a photograph. So Stephanie obligingly ran her fingers through her brunette locks, making them more tousled and attractive than ever.

"Oh, well, she looks natural that way," Miss Bennett smiled. Stephanie said their mother would leave Vancouver Saturday for Seattle, and that the "Bell, Book and Candle" road company was heading down the coast. Mummy has to act again in Vancouver tonight," she added, by way of explanation for the short visit here.

The girls are daughters of Miss Bennett and her present husband, Walter Wanger. She also has two older daughters by a previous marriage.

Although the screen star has been working in motion pictures since 1929, her age is well-documented at 42. She is petite, attractive, with a silvery grey swish in her dark, glossy hair. A mere man would describe her outfit as a sort of summer-weight, light tan suit, rather severely tailored. No hat; open-toed shoes; no purse.

In fact, the only baggage in evidence was a small dressing case, which Shelley glared carefully.

Harrison Will Veto Robert House Sale

Aldermen Argue Over $42,000 Price Behind Closed Doors, But Vote in Open

Mayor Claude Harrison said today he will make use of his vote authority to force city aldermen to reconsider their decision to sell Prince Robert House.

The mayor indicated he would bring down the vote early next week, together with a full statement explaining his views on the matter.

Council voted 6 to 4 Thursday in favor of turning the former service hostel over to a local syndicate for $42,000.

The aldermen carried out an hour-long discussion of the offer behind closed doors but, under rules of the Municipal Act, had to conduct their final vote in the open.

The vote showed those in favor of selling Prince Robert House were Ald. Frank Mulliner, Ald. Margaret Christie, Ald. Waldo Skilling, Ald. William Pinfold, Ald. Robert MacMillan, Ald. Arthur Dowell and Ald. James Neely.

Those opposed were Mayor Harrison, Ald. Percy Scarr, Ald. Donald Smith and Ald. Brent Murdoch.

The mayor's vote will have the effect of holding the council motion in abeyance for 30 days, when council must reconsider it. If the council decides then that it still wants to sell the property, the sale goes through.

The $42,000 offer on which council balloted Thursday was $1,000 higher than the price previously put forward by the syndicate two weeks ago.

Mayor Harrison made note of that today, arguing: "If those interested in this building were willing to raise their offer $1,000 overnight without any prompting, then surely the building is worth still more."

The mayor's plan is for the city to keep the building and to rent it. He believes that by spending $40,000 for renovation, the city could fetch $350 a month rent right away and close to $1,000 when provincial liquor laws are changed.

The mayor is confident the city will sell its Ogden Point grain elevators for a good price and maintains that part of the "found money" gained by such sale should provide for Prince Robert House renovations.

"That would be making good use of it," he says. "Otherwise, the money would go into the bank and draw 1½ per cent interest. What good will that be? We must put the money to work."

Adopting another line of argument, the mayor said the syndicate willing to pay $42,000 still had given no definite word to council as to what it intended to do with the Prince Robert House property, other than to say it would provide stores there.

"In these times, we must consider more than just the real value of property. For the sake of the future, we must think of what use property will be put."

At the same time, council decided that it would throw out a drafted contract with the American firm which would have given the company occupancy of the building for the next year, at a charge of $1,250 a month, which was last year's charge.

Council's decision was that the U.S. firm could lease the building on a month-to-month basis, just as it did last year.

Council, however, did not rule on what the rent charge would be. Consequently, those at City Hall were in a quandary today as to whether the city would get $1,250 a month as was proposed in the recently-drawn agreement, or $1,000 a month, which was last year's charge.

City Refuses $150,000 Bid For Elevator

Council Hope High For Profitable Deal

With hopes of selling Ogden Point grain elevators for a much higher price, City Council voted Thursday to notify Kerr Gifford Ltd., of Portland, Ore., that the city will not consider its offer to take a $150,000 option on the big storage bins.

At the same time, council decided that it would throw out a drafted contract with the American firm which would have given the company occupancy of the building for the next year, at a charge of $1,250 a month, which was last year's charge.

Purses for Autumn
Are Something to See

By PENNY SAVER

Let's face it folks, we've got to start thinking about our fall wardrobe. When you've bought the basic ensembles then you will probably have to start looking around for accessories.

I'm telling you, it will be a joy when you come to look for your fall purse.

For purses are really grand this season! The box style is still very popular. One I saw was black leather with double straps. This same purse came in a variety of colors and was priced at $3.95.

English morocco always makes a purse look double its value. It was hard to believe the beautiful fall bag I was shown was only $8.50. It was finished to perfection, with a zipper section in the purse and all the trimmings.

You can't beat a Bond Street bag for economy and practicality. They are large enough to carry everything a woman needs to get through a whole day and yet they look neat with a variety of ensembles. For quite a while they have been a standard style but now, besides those, you can buy a Bond Street with straps that are attached at the sides of the bag and seem to be a little longer. This style is $21.50.

Here's a really good price on English lizard purses. Lizard purses, in all colors, are featured in several new styles and are large to team with fall ensembles. The price, as I said before, is reasonable—$14.50.

Purses are a little larger this year than last. An example of the larger style was a purse I saw priced at $12.50. It resembled a suitcase but, of course, was about a quarter the size of one.

An exception to the large style is the popular clutch bag. It folds into a neat little flat purse, but when open it reveals plenty of room and a zipper section. Sells for $5.95.

This will give you a fair idea of the amazing selection of purses to complete your fall wardrobe. They are of excellent quality as well as reasonably priced.

There's No Question
Husband Comes First

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When a wife must choose between pleasing her husband or her mother, there's no question who should come first. That is what this young wife must learn:

Hurlock

(Q) "I am 25 years old and have been married for 18 months to a man whom I love very much. My mother and I are very devoted, perhaps because I am an only child. Now that I am going to have a baby, she insists that I go back home to her for my confinement. My husband regards Mother as too 'possessive' and wants me to remain with him for neither of us is happy when parted. I do not wish to displease either my husband or my mother. Shouldn't my husband come first?"

(A.) Certainly. It would be foolish for you to give in to your mother's wishes at this time. Stay at home and have your baby there, in the hospital your doctor selects for you.

Your mother is selfish to try to take you away from your husband now. One never knows when a baby will arrive, especially a first baby, and that may keep you away from your home for weeks.

Furthermore, you could not return to your home as soon as if you went to a nearby hospital. You would have more work to do too, after being away for so long.

It would be a great help, however, if your mother could stay with you when you returned from the hospital. Why not ask her to visit you when you are in the hospital, take care of your home and your husband while you are away, and then be there to manage things for you until your strength is back and you can manage for yourself.

One of the most important things a mother can do for a child is to help her out at a time like childbirth. But, if the help is to be really valuable, it must be to make things easier for her daughter, not more complicated. If your mother can't get away or doesn't want to, let her stay home. But, don't leave your husband to go to her now. Your place is with him regardless of your mother's feelings.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Two Young Girls Question
Faults With Their Figures

A note to the woman who wrote me in great despondency about her gray hair: I do not give trade names in this column, but if you will write to me again and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope I will give you the name of an efficient rinse. You did not give me your address.

Q. "We are two girls who would like to know what is wrong with our figures. One of us is 14, weighs 145 pounds, is five feet, five inches tall. Bust measures 33 inches, waist 28 inches and hips 37 inches. I am 16 and weigh 112 pounds. I am five feet, four inches tall. My bust measures 29 inches, waist 23 inches and hips 32 inches."—Jane and Kay.

A. The first girl is overweight. Unless you are extremely large boned, 136 pounds should be about the correct weight. Take waist and hip reducing exercises and diet in a sensible way. Do not starve yourself. Eat a well-balanced diet but cut out desserts, fried foods, candy and soda fountain treats and eat only fruit or fruit juices or skimmed milk between meals.

The second girl is very much underweight. Your proportions are good but you need more pounds. Gain them for health as well as appearance.

Q. "Do you think a girl with a long thin face and a long nose should wear a middle part?"

A. The middle part is splendid for the long thin face. It adds to the illusion of width. However, a middle part is not becoming to a woman with a long nose. In your case I think the middle part is more important to have. You might compromise with a slanting part. Wear the hair fluffy at the sides and pull it out a bit over the ears. This will be flattering to both nose and hair.

It's the Top-Heavy Look for Daytime Wear

LONDON, Aug. 29 (Reuters)—Most women will look top-heavy in daytime this winter.

But they will not have to scrap all of their existing wardrobes. The big fashion collections, setting the styles which will be worn this winter, show no radical changes.

Added width to the shoulders, achieved by the addition of a wide, shaped stole or cape, and a slimming, by flat-pleating or just plain cutting, of billowing skirts, will bring existing suits and day ensembles approximately up to date.

Skirts will have to be lengthened an inch or two to the new length of 13 inches off the ground. But shoulders remain sloping and the waist, though it wanders slightly here and there in front, remains in its natural position.

Winter coats are more cosy than ever, with tall luxurious-looking fur collars, deep fur cuffs and, often, fur lining which edges the front opening from collar to hem.

Black Persian lamb, beaver and fox are the most popular furs, but seal and mink are also used.

Craftsmen Making Exquisite Tiaras for the Coronation

LONDON, Aug. 29 (CP).—British jewelry designers are fashioning tiaras and magnificent jewelry suits for formal wear, to be worn in Westminster Abbey at the coronation next June and on other state occasions in connection with the crowning of Queen Elizabeth.

The coronation is also responsible for preparation of many designs with a coronation motif to be sold at home and abroad as symbols and souvenirs.

Pearls and diamonds are combined to make some unusual tiaras. One London jeweler has designed a tiara on a base of three rows of pearls with the addition of larger pearls and diamonds. This one is very light and can be worn comfortably for long periods.

The modern tiaras are set in platinum, in contrast to older designs that were always in gold or silver. Lacy designs seen at previous coronations are also out of date. Fringe and sun-ray fashion jewelry designers are producing tiaras with a dual purpose. They may be converted in a few minutes to be worn as diamond necklaces. In turn, the necklace can be split into a double clip and earrings.

The crown motif of course is a favorite one for the costume jewelry to be sold in Britain during coronation year. Crown brooches worn on the lapel of a jacket, or even in the hair, will be in pearls or rhinestones.

Among coronation souvenirs silver will be used for tiny hairbrushes, cocktail sticks, tankards and sauce boats. For children there will be silver porringers with a fleur-de-lis design, and hairbrushes decorated with miniature crowns.

There will also be cake and sweets dishes in similar designs, letter-openers shaped like swords, and a host of others.

Bride-Elect Honored

A shower to honor Miss H. V. "Corky" Horth, September bride-elect, was held at the home of Mrs. H. Sayers, Walnut Street, Co-hostesses were Mrs. J. R. Moran and Miss H. M. Moore. Gifts were arranged in a pink bride box.

Washington Nurse-Roving Reporter

MONTREAL (CP)—Isadore Denike might be called a roving reporter, but she's as much at home with bandages and medicine as with paper and typewriter. She's a public health specialist from Washington, D.C.

Miss Denike's assignment is to tour as much of the world as she can, learning about health systems and methods and reporting back to the American Nurses' Association.

She is director of Student Health Services at Freedman's Hospital in Washington, and has a master's degree from the University of Minnesota.

Whenever she comes across an idea that could be used back home, out comes the typewriter and off goes a report to Washington. She has already visited Mexico, Spain, Germany, France and England.

At present she is taking a look at the way Canadians approach health problems. She says Canadians do things "much the same as at home." Even the top-10 fatal diseases in Canada are the same as those in the United States.

But she has found that standards of public nursing differ widely from country to country. Sanitation in Mexico is still primitive, she says. In Britain they are up-to-date as anywhere, with maternity work especially well advanced, but there tradition is still over-emphasized, she thinks.

Britain, however, has a lower infant death rate than Canada of the United States, she said, because there nurses are trained as midwives and there is an active program of pre-natal care for all prospective mothers.

Vocal Accompanist Has Share In Auditions, Records, Singer's Nerves

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

A Victoria-born pianist who was closely identified with several musical organizations in this city before leaving to make her home in England, is Mrs. Conyers Bridgewater. She is revisiting Victoria as the guest of her sister, Mrs. David Doig, Lansdowne Road.

In London, where she is professionally well known as Violet Bridgewater, she has carved out an absorbing career in the musical world. Specializing in vocal accompaniment, Mrs. Bridgewater is much in demand for audition work.

"That is, auditions for opera, B.B.C. programs or musical productions in the theatre," she explains. "The work is most satisfying, particularly when your client is successful and is given a contract. The relationship established between singer and accompanist is a close one and you naturally share their joys—and their disappointments, too!"

WITHOUT REHEARSAL
Playing for general auditions, when there is no preliminary rehearsal, is rather nerve-racking, Mrs. Bridgewater admits.

"You do not know in advance what music will be put before you," she smiles. "It may be Wagner, Chopin, Gershwin or Rogers. You just have to be ready for anything!"

Then of course, there is the well-known hazard—singer's nerves! These the accompanist is also called upon to share by way of providing steady and confident support, no matter what may happen.

Mrs. Bridgewater does a good deal of concert work but finds the most fascinating part of her busy schedule, the making of gramophone records.

"I have learned more about accompanying from this type of work, than any teacher could tell me," she declares. "Especially regarding the use of the pedals; this calls for the greatest discretion when a microphone is hanging over the piano."

MUSICAL FAMILY
Mrs. Bridgewater's interesting life began when she was born in the house that is now Bishop's Close, on Vancouver Street, in this city. Her father was Dr. I. W. Powell, who was later the first commissioner for Indian Affairs in British Columbia, and after whom, Powell Lake and Powell River were named.

Her mother, also, was much identified with musical life in Victoria and was one of the founders of the now-extinct Alexandra Club. Mrs. Bridgewater and her mother helped to form the Ladies' Musical Club, which is now the Victoria Musical Art Society.

She was a president of the Musical Club and acted as accompanist for the Arion Club on occasions.

Her outstanding experiences in England have not been confined to music. During the Second Mrs. Conyers Bridgewater, daughter of a pioneer Victoria family, finds Victoria "lovelier than ever" on her first visit here in more than 35 years.

World War her London home was an A.R.P. sub-post and both she and her husband were wardens.

Reminiscing on those days, she recalls one special piece of good fortune that blessed them.

"Imagine," she says, "we left our house one night in 1944 to go on duty at the main warden's post, a distance of 10 minutes' walk away, and an hour later a flying bomb struck our house and made an appalling mess of it! My Bechstein grand piano was up-ended and quite badly damaged. I doubt if we would have got out alive," she adds in calm reflection.

"The house was condemned at first, but luckily they eventually found it could be repaired."

CONCERTS IN BLITZ
But Mrs. Bridgewater still had a place for her music. In fact, she says, "it was the greatest consolation to me."

It was all in the day's work to hear her tell it, as she would hurry from a spell of warden's duty, to a concert hall, school or bomb shelter, and there, fill efficiently, her role of accompanist.

These concerts, though often interrupted by the wailing of sirens and falling bombs, represented a useful and very necessary service, she explains, diverting the nerve-racked, relaxing tired workers, reminding a be-

Saseenos Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Many friends met Wednesday at "Maplehurst," Saseenos, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clark, to congratulate them on their golden wedding anniversary.

A feature of the occasion was the presentation of a radio and two "golden" cups and saucers as a community gift from the residents of Saseenos, Sooke, Otter Point and Shirley. Rev. R. Lyttle of Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, made the presentation.

The couple were married in Victoria by Rev. Archibald Ewing of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The parents of both were pioneers of the Shirley district, where Mr. and Mrs. Clark made their home for 60 years before moving to Saseenos two years ago.

Mr. Clark was born in Southampton, England, in 1872, coming to Victoria in 1889.

Mrs. Clark was born at Sandbank, Argyllshire, Scotland, in 1879, and came to Victoria in 1890 with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell.

The anniversary couple had ten children—one daughter and nine sons, the eldest son, Edwin, was killed in an automobile accident four years ago. His widow and son are now living in Berkeley, Calif., and were unable to attend.

A daughter, Christine, in Victoria, and their eight sons, Stanley and Leslie, Duncan, George, Wilfred, Earl and Raymond, Saseenos; and Douglas and Arthur, Victoria; with their wives and families were all present. There are 19 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark were assisted in receiving by their daughter and daughters-in-law. More than 100 guests were present, including Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. W. Allen, Victoria, and her brother, D. Campbell, Royal Oak, both of whom, as well as their parents, had celebrated their 35th wedding anniversaries.

B.C. Steel Plans Jell

By BURKE CAHILL, Times Business Editor
Rapid development of Vancouver Island deposits as the main source of iron ore in B.C. brings closer a start on local production of steel.

Spurred by the province's industrial boom and by the squeeze on steel supplies, the hope is that hard-pressed local operators will soon take the financial plunge necessary for a mill to treat Island ore for steel production.

From Vancouver, Mr. Hobbs, managing director of Vancouver Rolling Mills and a director of the newly-formed Vancouver Steel Ltd., said that his group is seriously considering a plant near the Island iron ore field at Quinsam to make steel.

Tentative plans, Mr. Hobbs indicated, call for a $4,000,000 electric furnace to smelt the Island ore, mixed with scrap, for steel production.

No definite decision has yet been taken, however, Mr. Hobbs emphasized. He described as "premature" a Canadian Press report Thursday that his firm would build such a plant at the site of the Island iron lode.

Mr. Hobbs has been a prime mover in experiments in steel manufacturing during the past years in B.C. His company, Vancouver Rolling Mills, has been successful in smelting scrap and pig iron to produce billets at the mainland plant. These products have found a ready market among British Columbia manufacturers and the firm has had supply are pleased to note that current development of Island ore deposits is proving up larger reserves. Much bigger reserves than are at present visible would be needed to warrant construction of a steel plant of any great size here, it is explained.

Simon J. Voss, chairman of Trinidad Leaseholds and Regent Oil, sailed on the liner Queen Elizabeth Thursday to discuss the financing of his firm's new Canadian oil interests.

Last year Trinidad Leaseholds bought the Canada West Drilling Company operating in the Leduc oilfield. Voss said: "The exploitation of the property will be expensive and a long and trying business."

U.S. Treasury secretary John Snyder said in Washington today he will head the United States delegation to the annual meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund in Mexico City.

The secretary said at a press conference the U.S. position on gold remains "unchanged." This meant the U.S. contemplates no change in its policy of buying and selling gold at $35 an ounce. The U.S. price sets the world price for gold.

Latest list of defense contracts for B.C. firms includes Smith-Anderson Co. Ltd., Victoria, $34,340, for re-roofing buildings; Rose Fuel Co., Victoria, $14,471, for coal; Albert Victoria Coal Co., $11,378, for coal.

The B.C. experiments have been "promising," Mr. Hobbs indicated, but quite a few wrinkles apparently remain.

Meanwhile, local manufacturers interested in a domestic steel process has been developed for using magnetite ore to make steel by the electric furnace method.

Rum stories...

"By the great Horn Spoon, those were gales," said the bosun.

"Not only could we not round the Horn, but the fury of the elements was driving us backwards up the coast of America. Only by the unusual feat of using the bowsprit as a rudder could I keep us from perishing on those inhospitable shores. At this point, a flock of gigantic albatrosses sank exhausted on the deck. Hastily reviving them with tots of our cargo, Lamb's Navy Rum, I harnessed them to the vessel and encouraged them to fly in the desired direction. The upshot was that our time for the Boston-Sacramento run stood as a record for thirty years."

"That's a Rum Story," said the unsuspecting guest.

"Thank you, sir. I should enjoy nothing better than a Lamb's Navy Rum."

B.C.H.I.S. MUST REMAIN
'AT ALL COSTS,' SAYS MARTIN

Hospital insurance in B.C. will be maintained "at all costs," by the Social Credit government, Hon. Eric Martin emphasized in the course of an address to Victoria Rotary Club Thursday. The minister of health and welfare said "we have no intention of ever abandoning health insurance. But economic adjustments may be necessary. "We, as a people, have learned to produce. We have not learned to distribute equitably the goods and services we produce."

EAGER BEAVER

New Member
Hunts Oath
Administrator

The C.C.F. has a really eager M.L.A. among its new members. Tony Gargrave, Powell River, elected in Mackenzie riding, was in Victoria today looking for E. K. DeBeck, clerk of the Legislature, to swear him into office. Mr. Gargrave was in the city on other business, but wanted to get sworn in at the same time instead of waiting until a session is called. Maybe Mr. Gargrave has heard about the possibility that Premier W. A. C. Bennett is going to seek an election without first calling a session. Mr. DeBeck, however, is out of town and Mr. Gargrave will have to wait.

City Officer Going To Traffic Classes

City council voted in favor Thursday of having a representative of the local police department attend a special course of instruction to be given in Seattle next month, relative to handling traffic after air raids. The council left choice of the officer up to the mayor and police chief. The provincial government will pay most of the officer's expenses while on the course.

Engine Driver
On Last Run
Of Long Career

Purse Presentation
Arranged by Staff

Louis P. Smythe, the first locomotive engineer on the Canadian National Railway's Vancouver Island lines, completes his last run today before retiring after 44 years of railroading. He will be presented with a purse tonight by railway associates. Born in Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia, in 1887, the veteran railroad man began his career in 1908 at Sudbury, Ont., with the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway in the mechanical department. He transferred to Port Mann, B.C., with the Canadian Northern Railway in 1911, worked as a locomotive fireman and was promoted to engineer in 1913. Six years later, Mr. Smythe came to Victoria when Vancouver Island's railway system was being constructed. After working on various B.C. mainland terminals, he returned here in 1942 and has been with the C.N.R. Island lines ever since. His leisure time will be taken up with golf and bridge.

'SOCIETY STANCE'

Show Horse
Mistreated
Is Charged

VANCOUVER, Aug. 29 (CP)—A spokesman at the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said Thursday one exhibitor at the Pacific National Exhibition had administered an irritant to a show horse to give it a "society stance." The spokesman would not give the exhibitor's name but said "he is from out of town." "He put pepper and ginger under the horse's tail," she said, "which creates a terrific pain. "It makes the horse lift its tail and step higher in front." She said that the exhibitor is open to prosecution, but that she did not know what the society planned to do. An investigator was dispatched to the P.N.E. Thursday following a complaint from a horse owner. An anonymous note was pinned on the stall of one Canadian saddle horse warning "this mare is still suffering from use of an irritant to make it keep its tail up while in the show-ring."

City Pays Five Fees
For Welfare Studies

City Council authorized Thursday expenditure of $100 to allow Mrs. Florence Mutrie, administrator of the city's social welfare department, and four members of her staff, to attend the American Public Welfare Association Conference to be held in Victoria Sept. 2 to 4. The $100 provides for registration fees only, council was told.

PORTAGE INLET RESORT PLAN ZONING BOARD TURNS DOWN

U.N. Bombers Hit Pyongyang

Aircraft of Four Allies
Make Record 1,403 Sorties

By SAM SUMMERLIN

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 29 (AP)—Allied planes in record numbers today pounded Pyongyang and left the reeling North Korean capital wrapped in great clouds of smoke and torn by explosions.

Four Allied countries sent a record 1,403 sorties (individual flights) against the city in three waves of land and carrier-based fighter-bombers, the United States Air Force and Navy said. The tonnage of bombs dropped was exceeded only by the massive raid of July 11.

Black smoke poured from the factories, supply dumps and troop billets at the outskirts of Pyongyang, forewarned of the raids by radio and leaflets.

A returning United Nations pilot said the city "was blowing up all over."

Planes from three U.S. aircraft carriers off the east coast of Korea flew 210 sorties over the Red capital.

Some 420 planes poured 4,000 gallons of flaming gasoline and 597 tons of high explosives on more than 40 Communist targets during the dawn-to-dusk raids. They sprayed 52,000 rounds of machine-gun bullets on the area, the air force said.

Today's first wave of jet and prop-driven planes battered Communist anti-aircraft defenses, which pilots said threw up a heavy curtain of flak. Other waves concentrated on stockpiles, barracks, industries and airfields used to bolster the Communist war effort.

Pyongyang radio was off the air, and monitors in Tokyo said it still had not come on for its regular broadcasts tonight.

Allied air raids have driven Pyongyang radio from the air waves twice recently. Once was in June, when a smashing blow at the Suho hydro-electric power plant on the Manchurian frontier cut off the capital's power. The second was the big July 11 raid.

South African, South Korean and Australian planes joined U.S. pilots in this fifth attack on the Red capital since Aug. 1.

Campbell, Meister Lead in Canadian Golf Semifinals

WEST VANCOUVER, Aug. 29 (CP)—Willow Bill Campbell was thrashing Sam Urzetta five up today at the end of the first 18 of their 36-hole semi-final match in the Canadian amateur golf championship.

Ed Meister of Cleveland enjoyed a 1 up lead on Larry Bouchee of Inglewood, Calif., at the halfway point in the second semi-final.

Contractors Offer $2 To Local Carpenters

Union Members to Vote on Wage Proposal; Effort Made to Open New Oak Bay School

Victoria contractors today made striking city carpenters a "take it or leave it" offer of $2 per hour in an effort to end the 74-day work stoppage in the city.

The offer was made at a meeting arranged by the Labor Relations Board.

Officials of Local 1598 of the carpenters' union said at the conclusion of the meeting that the membership would be asked to vote on the offer.

The union's strike committee, however, made it clear it would not recommend the men vote in favor of the $2 rate.

Previous to the strike June 17 carpenters in Victoria had been paid $1.75 per hour. They asked for $2.50, then limited their demands to $2.10 and other benefits recommended by a conciliation board majority report. Contractors offered $1.90.

"This offer is made solely for the purpose of settlement," said a statement issued by Victoria Builders' Exchange Ltd., contractors' organization.

"It is not a bargaining offer, and is not subject to further negotiation."

Asked by representatives of the Exchange to give a decision on permitting work on Oak Bay Junior High School, members of the Union's negotiating committee said the membership would be allowed to decide the matter at its wage vote meeting.

W. J. Hamilton, exchange president, said 520 students

Company Plans to Seek Reversal of Decision

The View Royal Zoning Appeal Board has refused to give permission for construction of the first phase of the $12,000,000 Portage Inlet recreation project.

William E. Porter, board chairman, said today the application for re-zoning of certain lands for commercial uses was dismissed "because the board is satisfied the proposed project would depreciate the value of property in the district and adversely affect the area's residential character."

A spokesman for Royal Portage Parks Ltd., proposers of the project, immediately charged that the board is "biased," and that the company will go "to the highest authority" in an effort to get approval of the plans.

Further action along this line must await the return to the city of J. G. Rutman, counsel for the firm.

The company wanted re-zoning of 76 acres in the Portage Inlet area to allow construction of a "luxury resort area," including a hotel, motel, aquatic facilities and many other projects of a recreational nature. This was to be the first phase of the overall project.

Residents loudly protested the project at a View Royal public hearing two weeks ago. In announcing the board's decision, Mr. Porter noted there was "a total lack of evidence as to the identity of the principals involved or their ability to complete successfully the vast project."

He also said the majority of property owners affected are strongly opposed to the project. The application for re-zoning actually was made by several landowners in the area. Charles E. Craig, architect for Royal Portage Parks Ltd., appeared on their behalf at the hearing.

At one point during the hearing he asked that the hearing be adjourned until backers of the project "declare themselves."

It is likely that the financial interests behind the plan will be announced at a later date in an effort to strengthen the company's argument in favor of the project.

Spectacular Blaze Ruins Langford Plant; Volunteer Firemen Praised

A spectacular $200,000 fire Thursday night left Highway Sawmills Ltd. mill at Langford a blackened ruin.

About 80 per cent of the loss is covered by insurance, company officials said today.

Flames from the blaze in the busy Langford business district threatened wider disaster for a time, but volunteer firemen from three areas, and sailor fire fighters from Esquimalt, saved nearby buildings and homes.

The mill was owned by Parle Singh and his son, Hurdit.

The fire's heat was so intense crews had to be kept on the job throughout the night, and the ruins were still smoldering this morning.

The blaze, which is believed to have broken out in the filing room, quickly engulfed the mill. It was first noticed at 7:25 p.m.

INVESTIGATION

The fire is to be investigated by a representative of the B.C. fire marshal's office, Vancouver.

At a training practice not more than 100 yards from the scene at the time, the Langford Volunteer Fire Fighting Department was quickly on the spot. This unit is in charge of Chief Rod Byles, Peatt Road.

Colwood department volunteers led by Chief Walter Gwyer, the View Royal Brigade led by Al Beasley, the R.C.N. unit from H.M.C. Dockyard in charge of Deputy Chief Lieut. G. R. Lay and Lieut. A. Hope, and a B.C. Forest Service suppression crew under Ranger Jack Greenhouse joined in the fight.

There were 49 men on the job in all.

The fighters, realizing that the mill was a hopeless loss, concentrated their efforts on saving adjoining buildings by dousing them with water.

"They did a splendid job," said Roy Leachman, mill foreman.

HOME DAMAGED

Only house badly damaged by the flames was that of Axel Olson, close to the west side of the mill. It is estimated that about $2,000 damage was done. Mr. Olson has partial insurance coverage.

38 MEN LEFT JOBLESS, MAY FIND BERTHS

Officials of Highway Sawmills Ltd. today reported 38 employees out of work due to the $200,000 blaze that destroyed the Langford mill Thursday night, probably will be re-employed.

Jack W. White, firm official, said employees probably will be absorbed by the company's Plummer Bay mill, Esquimalt Harbor, a similar arrangement having been made during the recent forest closure.

He said decision as to whether the Langford mill will be rebuilt would follow tendering of reports by insurance adjusters and the fire marshal's office.
